Zubaan, New Delhi, India. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. First Edition. This book makes an important contribution towards an understanding of citizenship as mediated by other collective, historically determined identities: of gender, ethnicity, class and national status. It brings together a group of prominent international scholars from moral philosophy, law, political science and sociology to offer a major reconceptualization of the idea of citizenship. The contributors demonstrate how the growing ambivalence of State sovereignty in the face of multinational capitalism and the absence of political accountability structures are complicit in the definitions of gendered citizenship. Against these, women's communal mobilization and political activism are considered in terms of their power effects and political potentialities. Contents Notes on Contributors Preface 1. Introduction: Women and the New Discourse of Citizenship Part One Dialogical Citizenship 2. Citizenship Revisited 3. Right-Wing 'Feminism': a Challenge to Feminism as an Emancipatory Movement 4. 'It Works Both Ways': Belonging and Social Participation among Women with Disabilities Part Two Exclusionary Citizenship 5.
